

Marco Radina

Marco Radina is an employment and labor attorney at law serving clients in all part of Italy. His practice is founded on a successful combination of personal attention, results-oriented aggressiveness, and a focus on cost-effectiveness. He represents businesses in matters such as employment litigation, labor relations, regulatory compliance and administrative enforcement, and more.

He takes a personalized approach to every case he takes on, providing prompt, personal communication and individual attention. His clients range from small local start-ups to Fortune 500 corporations; but no matter what your company's size or needs, you can trust that he will represent you with the utmost respect, honesty, and dedication. Mr. Radina will commit himself to partnering with your business, providing knowledgeable guidance and counsel to best suit your unique needs – while also keeping your desire for cost-efficient service in mind.

He is proud to have a solid balance of both counseling and litigation/trial experience. He knows all the ins and outs of the playing field, and our goal is to give you and your business the advice, knowledge, and support you need to keep your endeavors secure and successful.